

DRSwitch is a central data switch that facilitates the automation of document flow between debt counsellors and credit providers (typically banks).

The debt counsellor captures the client information that is then securely sent to the credit provider via data switch.

The information is automatically populated into the credit providers' system. A Certificate of Balance will be automatically created and sent back to the debt counsellor.

Benefits:

- Historical data
- Increased efficiency of Debt Review industry
- Debt counsellor
- Automation of the manual process
- Reducing pressure of staff on capturing data
- Turn-around time improvement

Target Market:

- Credit providers
- Debt counsellors
